
IN AN UNOFFICIAL "eye-test" given at a recent City Council meeting, all the councilmen "failed".

In support of a request for a larger sign than that which had been approved by the Planning Commission, Vernon Burgess, of the sign company, conducted his own special eye-test.

The sign company, on behalf of 4 Point Rents on Camden Avenue, was appealing the verdict of the Planning Commission which had reduced the square footage in the sign from about 88 sq. ft. as requested to 45 sq. ft.

The larger sign was needed, Burgess and Charles Johnisee, owner of the rental firm, claimed, to identify the location from some distance away because of the difficulty people had in trying to find the business on that stretch of Camden Avenue which is somewhat cut off from the rest of the world.

Burgess suggested that the action of the staff (and Planning Commission) in reducing the sign was an "arbitrary one".

He also maintained that the formula being used by the city people to determine the height of the letters that could be used on signs was faulty.

Burgess submitted that the formula used by the city specifies that a sign with 12-inch letters gives adequate visibility at 1000 feet. He claimed that was not true.

He then proceeded to conduct his "eye-test" to "prove" his point.

Although the Council Chambers are quite plush and adequate for the city needs, obviously the depth of the hall is considerably less than 1000 feet.

About 25 times less, is a good guess.

SO THE TEST WAS CONducted by scale.

Burgess explained that the council chambers was about 40 feet long and that he would go to the opposite end from where the councilmen were sitting and hold up a piece of paper on which he had printed a word.

He claimed that the size of the letters in the word were scaled down from the 1000-ft. 12-in. formula. Thus they were one-half inch in height based on the 40-foot depth of the chambers.

He carefully kept the word covered until he took his stance at the entrance. Then he held up his sign.

Everyone peered away.

But no one could read it.

Burgess then proceeded about half-way up the aisle until some of the far-sighted city fathers raised their hands.

Although it was an interesting diversion, apparently Vernon's visual aid didn't convince the Council. Subsequently by a 3-2 vote the City Council upheld the Planning Commission and denied the appeal.

However, one point was determined.

Letters on signs in the council chambers should be more than one-half inch in height, if the message is to be read by everyone in the joint.

Oh, what was the word on the sign that Burgess held up.

We thought you would never ask.

"ARBITRARY".

A NUMBER OF YOU were curious as to why the flag at the Post Office was flying at half-mast during the past week.

Some of you called our office to find out. Surprisingly we knew the answer.

The flag was at that position to mark the passing of the former Postmaster General A. E. Summerfield who served during the Eisenhower administration.

But we don't want to give you the wrong impression.

We didn't know why the flag was at half-mast either

Trustees call for new tax election for continuation of $2.55 base rate

Voters in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District on Tuesday, July 25, will decide at the polls whether the $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation general purpose should be continued for the next five years, the trustees decided last Thursday.

But at the same meeting, in a separate resolution, the trustees pledged that there will be another tax election next year because they were concerned over the reduction of the services that will be necessary under the $2.55 rate.

It will mark the second time this year that the electorate will have voted on the tax base for the district. On February 29, the voters turned down a 50-cent increase (from $2.55 to $3.05).

DOWN TO $1.80

Because of the rejection on February 29, actually on June 30, 1972, the general purpose tax rate for the district will revert to $1.80 per $100 assessed valuation. However, should the voters on July 25 approve the continuation of the $2.55 rate, modifications in the preliminary budget (based on the $1.80 rate) can be made before it is finally adopted in August.

Prior to the calling of the election for July 25 for the $2.55 rate, the trustees approved the preliminary budget that had been presented by Superintendent Jim D'Avis.

$1.8 MILLION CUT

The budget that was given tentative approval was for $9,611,278 which is $1.8 million below the current budget.

Calling the election for July 25 for the $2.55 rate was done by an unanimous official vote of the trustees. However, each trustee prior to the voting emphasized concern over the fact that the rate would mean some curtailment in the educational services offered by the district. They indicated, however, it would not be practical to ask for approval of any increase.

However, Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, board president, went one step farther.

He abstained in voting for the resolution calling the election for $2.55 and introduced a resolution that he had drafted which pledges the board to call another tax election during the 1972-73 fiscal year "for an amount sufficient to properly finance the district and maintain the quality of education."

The specific date and tax rate would be determined as early as possible in the next school year.

DR. KING ABSTAINS

After some discussion on the question of whether the board should obligate itself in that manner, the resolution passed by a 4-0 vote with Dr. Robert King abstaining.

Dr. King maintained that he felt it was imperative to re-assess the situation before committing an election. He added that he was especially interested in taking another look at the assessed valuation figures during the next year.

After MacQuiddy's resolution had passed, the chairman then announced that he was voting "yes" on the resolution scheduling the election for the $2.55 base rate.

DISCUSSION

Trustee Ralph Steinberg led off the discussion on calling for a vote on the continuation rate rather than specifying any increase. He submitted that a raise of 10-cents would be only a token benefit and would give the community a false sense of accomplishment and jeopardize the future. He thought the 10-cent hike would do more harm than good.

Prior to the trustees expressing their opinions, Herb Wadley, president of the teachers association, appealed to the board to ask for the $3.05 rate which was voted down on February 29. He likened the $2.55 rate as "slow death" whereas the $1.80 rate which will be in effect, if the voters don't approve the continuation, as immediate death.

Steinberg took exception to Wadley's "slow death" metaphore. He maintained that "to die" would mean the closing of the schools and that was not going to happen.

Gordon Martin, of the teachers' union, also urged the higher rate, claiming that the board's decision seemed based on "what they could sell the people!"

Wadley, earlier in the discussion, wanted the board members to commit themselves as to whether they were willing to take the responsibility of lessening the quality of education by not asking for a high enough tax. Wadley emphasized that, unless the

Four principals shift jobs

Four Campbell Union (elementary) School District principals will shift jobs this next year, Superintendent Jim D' Avis reported this week.

Bruce Stevenson, who has been principal of Rolling Hills School for the past nine years will become principal of Rosemary School and Bob Turk, Rosemary chief, will go to Rolling Hills.

Stevenson, who spent five years as a teacher in the district, had served three years as vice-principal of Monroe and two years as Marshall Lane principal before assuming the principalship of Rolling Hills nine years ago.

Turk was a teacher in the district for four years, served one year as vice-principal of Campbell Elementary and has been principal of Rosemary for three years.

Ken Meinecke, who has been principal of Parkway for five years, will become principal of Marshall Lane next year and Claud Walsh, who has been principal of Marshall Lane for two years, will shift to Parkway.

Meinecke, who spent five and a half years as a teacher in the district, was vice-principal of Rolling Hills before assuming the Parkway post.

Walsh, who was principal of Hamilton for six years before going to Marshall Lane, had previously served seven years as a teacher and three as vice-principal.

Moreland superintendent gets new four-year pact

Superintendent Richard L. Davis, of the Moreland School District, has been awarded a new four-year contract by the trustees of the district extending from July 1, 1972 through June 30, 1976.

Davis has served the district as superintendent since July 1, 1966 having had prior experience in the Santa Clara School District from 1950 to 1959 as an elementary teacher and principal.

From 1959 to 1966 he served both the Santa Clara Elementary and Union High School districts as director of special services and curriculum assistant, administrative assistant, and assistant superintendent of educational services.

Born in Sonora, Davis attended the elementary and secondary schools there. He graduated from San Jose State College in 1949 and earned his master's degree there in 1954. He has taken post-graduate work at Stanford University and at the University of California.

He and his wife, Jean, have two sons, Brent and Martin, and reside at 1276 Echo Valley Drive.

City studies "massage" ordinance

An ordinance patterned after the county's regulating "massage parlors", upon the recommendation of Police Chief Don Burr, will be presented to the City Council next Monday, May 8.

The Council is scheduled also next Monday to act on the bids that have been received for the programmable electronic calculator for the engineering department.

Because of complications resulting as to how the various "options" were listed in the bids, at the last meeting the Council deferred action on the awarding of the contract. Eight bids were received but in some cases the listing of "options" made it difficult to determine which bid was low. The bids ranged from $2,748.51 to $3,926.34 and with options from $4,862.53 to $7,955.05.

On the agenda also is an appeal by J.P. Clark and Fred ReHorn from a Planning Commission ruling denying their request to operate a private club at 1765 Florence Way in an industrial zone.

The applicants had previously been turned down in

RESIDENTS OBJECT

Planners turn down "go-cart" operation

By a unanimous (7-0) vote, the Planning Commission on Monday night turned down an application for a "go-cart" amusement enterprise on a 1.46 acre parcel at 2885 Winchester Blvd.

The decision met with the enthusiastic approval of a large delegation of residents, mostly from Old Orchard Road and Robin Lane, in the county "island" that is adjacent to the location, who had voiced objections to the proposal at the meeting.

The application for the use permit for the "Little Indy '500' Kart Way" operation was filed by Gerald Cohen and Samuel Testa.

Cohen explained that there would be 10 one-cylinder vehicles used on the track and that the engine would be specifically muffled and geared down so that noise would not be a factor.

He said that they wanted to operate the track from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. and added that in areas where similar enterprises were functioning there had been no objections.

OPPOSITION

Leading off the opposition was William Burns, a local developer, who said that a professional office building had been proposed for property at 3001 Winchester Blvd. only a short distance from the proposed "race track" and he felt that the proposed go-cart project would be objectionable to that development.

He added that not enough information was available to know how such an operation would affect the neighborhood.

Cohen, in his statement, had submitted that the business people in the immediate area had indicated approval. However, Burns, countered that claim with statements from the same business people who had changed their minds.

Among those taking the floor from the Robin Lane-Old Orchard sector were Bob Fedde, 865 Robin Lane; Mrs. John Prolo, 984 Robin Lane; Albert Marumoto, 936 Old Orchard; Hans Bissinger, 860 Old Orchard; William Young, 963 Old Orchard and Jerry O'Brien, 872 Old Orchard.

Speaking against the proposal also was E.M. Cavallaro, of 286 Sunny Oaks, who cited the lack of parking, more smog and noise as his main points for objections.

He added that traffic on Sunny Oaks was bad enough now and he facetiously suggested that the street had already turned into a "race track" so why have another one in the area.

Adding her objections also was Mrs. Charles Yarber, of 338 Bedal, who claimed that her property would bear the brunt of the noise and nuisance.

Before the vote, the commissioners expressed their concern over the noise factor, lack of information of the proposed operation, and that the location was not suitable for it.

OTHER ACTIONS

The Commission approved the modified plan for the new Herfy's restaurant that is planned at 1651 W. Campbell Ave. Residents in the area had objected to the restaurant dumping its traffic onto La Pradera, a residential street, and the matter had been continued for several meetings in an attempt to overcome the objections.

The plan approved allows one driveway onto La Pradera with the stipulation that the city's traffic engineer would review in six months the traffic situation that had developed on the street. The plan had been worked out in a conference in which the residents had taken part.

The Commission again continued the application of Oliver Nelson for approval of a warehouse plan at 520 McGlincey Lane. In this instance also residents in the adjacent areas have strenuously objected to the proposed development without an adequate landscape buffer.

16-FOOT WALL

A suggestion by staff that a 16-foot high wall of a proposed future building be allowed on the southeast property line with a 10-foot landscaped strip at the rear of the wall was ruled out by the building department unless the entire building was constructed.

NEW COMMISSIONER---Milt Howe, of 45 Budd Ave., was appointed to the Planning Commission on Saturday by the City Council in a special meeting. Prior to the meeting, called for that purpose, the councilmen interviewed seven applicants for the vacancy that was created when Norm Paul was elected to the City Council.

Howe, 41, a graduate of Campbell High, is employed by Philco-Ford. He is a lifelong resident of Campbell. He and his wife, Sally, have two children attending the local schools.

Tax election

There will be another tax election of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District on July 25.

The trustees of the district last week authorized the election and specified that authorization by the voters be given to continue the maximum tax rate of $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation for the next five years.

On February 29, 1972, the voters in the school district turned down a 50-cent tax hike ($3.05) which, in effect, puts the school district tax rate at $1.80 after June 30, 1972.

The trustees of the district, in calling the election for July 25 and asking the approval of the electorate to continue the $2.55 rate, indicated they felt that $2.55 was not adequate to do the job.

However, they also recognized that the community appeared not in the mood "to buy" an increase in the tax rate, so they authorized the election for the $2.55 rate.

The question, of course, becomes academic at this stage.

We support the concept of the $2.55 base rate which is merely a continuation of the rate that has been in effect for a number of years.

We sincerely hope that the citizens of the district will go to the polls on July 25 and approve this continuation of the current tax rate, for we recognize that attempting to operate on the $1.80 base rate means that many services of the district must be curtailed.

The trustees in calling the election for July 25 also specified that the $2.55 rate would be in effect for five years.

However, all of the trustees expressed concern over whether the school district could continue to offer the educational services that the people desired at that rate.

So, in addition to the resolution calling the election and asking for approval of the current rate, there was another resolution adopted by the board.

This second resolution, introduced by Richard MacQuiddy, board president, specified, in effect, that the $2.55 rate was not enough and that another tax election for an amount sufficient to properly finance the district and maintain the quality of education should be called during the 1972-73 school year.

While we recognize the concern of the trustees in this matter and appreciate their objective, we hold that such a commitment is premature at this time.

We wholeheartedly agree with the position taken by Trustee Bob King, who abstained in voting for the second resolution. King maintained that the trustees should not obligate themselves at this time without having an opportunity to re-assess the situation in the next fiscal year.

We recognize that it has been determined that a number of serious cutbacks will be necessary in the operation of the district, even if the $2.55 rate wins approval at the polls on July 25.

The district superintendent has indicated that approximately $500,000 has to be trimmed from the current budget and has suggested the areas in which the "trimming" has to take place.

We have no argument with that.

It appears that such a curtailment will be necessary based on present conditions and, undoubtedly, the educational program may suffer to some extent.

That, of course, is unfortunate.

But we also must be realistic about the situation.

The superintendent has also pointed out, that to ask for more than the $2.55 at the present time would have greatly increased the possibility of failure at the polls.

It could very well be that a tax increase will be necessary.

But that decision, it seems to us, should be made when the time arrives and all the chips have been counted.

We support the continuation of the $2.55 rate and urge voter approval on July 25.

But our attitude for any future tax election is based on the premise of "let's wait and see".

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE to have a screeching and uninvited visitor in your backyard at 5:30 in the morning?

That's what happened at the Court Watson residence on Catalpa Lane, one day last week.

The visitor strutted around the yard and was quite attractive in a feathery sort of way.

You see it was a peacock.

The Watsons had no idea where the big bird had come from and, at that time in the morning, we doubt if they appreciated its colorful plumage.

Later in the day, Jeanette informed us, the peacock took off without filing any flight plan with the Watsons.

Has anyone missed a peacock lately?

THIS WILL BE one of the dryest years on record, as most of you know.

In the urbanized sprawl in which we live, the drought will not have the same impact as in the rural areas.

However, we will be affected indirectly, one way or another.

Of course, there will be no water rationing.

In other words, keep on watering your lawn just as you always have.

Homer Hyde, our authority on water usage, inasmuch as he heads the Campbell Water Co. and, in addition, is chairman of the Bay Area Water Pollution Control Board, has emphasized that through this delta water control bit that is in effect, all of us will have enough water to take care of our gardens and lawns and stuff like that.

But Homer shudders when you ask him what would have happened, if there was no so-called "delta water".

You see this delta water, as we understand it, comes into our area and soaks down into the ground, so to speak.

That means, of course, that the water level comes up due to artificial stimulation. Or something like that.

Anyway, according to Homer, we can, this year, keep watering our lawns as usual during the impending "drought".

WE DON'T WANT TO get involved in climatic situations. But the record will show that, as we have long claimed, our particular area, year 'round is far superior to any other spot in the country, climatically speaking.

For example, take the last time it rained.

That's not really the right way to put it.

It wasn't really raining. But we were not sure.

It was unbelievable.

We put on our topcoat.

Shucks, why get wet clear through?

We checked to be sure the windshield wipers were working on the bug.

Then we charged off.

But then we had to put on our sun glasses.

You figure that one out.

If we hadn't been involved, we would not have believed it either.

We were wearing sun glasses and a topcoat.

The windshield wipers were sweeping like crazy.

It was hot as the dickens in the car.

We got soaked before we managed to get into the office.

There just has to be a moral or something in this.

But we surely don't know where it is.

THERE REALLY ISN'T much space in this column left to discuss the other "important" events that have occurred recently.

For example, when Bill Podgorsek became mayor there were 32 people in the audience who were directly or indirectly related to Bill "Pod", including his dad and mom.

Some of 'em had plodded through the heavy snows of Minnesota to get to Bill's inauguration.

We have no idea how you felt.

But, you know, when we shot that picture of the Podgorsek kinfolk, there was the same feeling in the pit of our stomach as we get when the "Star Spangled Banner" is played.

Now you know how square we are.

But, after all these years, we like it.

Next question.

board would make such a public statement, it was possible that the teachers would be held responsible for any deterioration.

RESPONSIBILITY

Trustee Judy Ruscigno explained to Wadley that when the trustees assumed their office, they recognized what responsibility went with their positions.

Most of the trustees indicated in the discussion over the $2.55 rate that the apparent feeling in the community was to hold the line rather than to ask for an increase.

Members of the audience, who were heard, seemed to agree with that concept with a few exceptions.

John Brown, a vigorous opponent to the increase asked for in the February 29 election, announced that he might consider supporting the $2.55 rate but would oppose anything but that figure.

George Baker, long active in school activities, also took the floor to urge the continuation rate rather than any increase.

The July 25 date was selected for the voting because West Valley College district has called a trustee election for that time and the two districts can consolidate their elections at a saving to both.

A representative from the Los Gatos - Saratoga High School District must be elected to the college board on July 25 to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Edward Panelli as Superior Court Judge.

Voters in the entire district can cast ballots in the election but the candidate must reside in the Los Gatos district.

Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Irene Driscoll, 1845 Bascom Ave.; two sisters, Mrs. Sharon Stevens of San Mateo and Sandra Inch of Sacramento, and a brother. Brock Sloan of South Carolina.

Services were conducted this week by Campbell Memorial Chapel.

ABOUT GROWTH

Dear Editor,

Recently we learned that Campbell, Calif. is the fastest growing area in the Santa Clara County with its population increasing at a rate of 6.6 per cent a year. More recently we read that Campbell is building faster than ever before, with building permits being issued right and left.

Everyone seems to be so glad and pleased with these developments. I for one, however, am not. I think Campbell had better look at its growth more carefully.

Is growth what Campbell really wants? Is Campbell growing simply for growth's sake or because it is in the citizens' best interest? Is a hamburger stand or a housing complex more important than a corner park or an orchard left untouched?

It comes down to a basic question. Will Campbell's future be based on quantity or quality?

A decision must be made very soon. Otherwise Campbell may become just another "fastest growing city in California" and that's all it will ever become.

Sincerely,
Jeff Norment

THANKS FOR SIGNING

Dear Editor:

We would like to thank all those Campbell residents who share our interest and concern and took time to listen and sign our referendum petition concerning the Amato property and the planned townhouse development.

We would like to urge everyone to attend at least one City Council meeting and Planning Commission meeting. We're sure they'll find the meetings most interesting and informative and see just how our City government is run and how it is working.

Sincerely,
Earl & Adele Purcell

Warrior Wrap-Up

by Ellen Carrico

GUYS AND DOLLS

Westmont's fourth play of the year, "Guys and Dolls," will hit the boards May 4, 5 and 6. This exciting musical fable may be seen at 8 p.m. in the cafetorium.

"New York's oldest established permanent floating crap game" sets the scene for "Guys and Dolls."

The proprietor of the game is in need of $1000 to keep it going, but all his fiance cares about is a wedding ring---Wouldn't any girl after being engaged for fourteen years?

Directing "Guys and Dolls" is Sue Hale, drama teacher. This will be her last play after an eight-year career at Westmont.

She plans to spend all of next year working on her master's degree, then (hopefully for Westmont) return.

Billie Freudiger, Terry Tosh, Patty Henderson and Mike Simpson are cast in lead roles.

Damon Runyon's story of Broadway will consist of about 20 songs.

Among these 20, "Bushel 'n' a Peck", "Sit Down You're Rockin' the Boat" and "Luck, Be a Lady", will be featured.

The choreography of "Guys and Dolls" will be arranged by Mrs. East, Westmont's Modern Dance instructor.

Tickets are selling rapidly. Prices are $1.50, $1.25 and $1. Those planning to attend should get their tickets now.

SPRING CONCERT

The spring concert this year will be presented Wednesday, May 10 at 8 p.m. in Westmont's Concert Hall.

The concert will feature full orchestra and string orchestra, with Fred Kalish as solo cellist and Gary McBee as director.

Music will include selections from Handel's Water Music and also Mozart's Symphony # 40 in G. minor.

Admission for this year's Spring Concert will be $1 a seat.

SPORTS

Recently, the Girls Gymnastics team placed first in League finals with Christie Baldinger and Renee Cote showing excellent performances.

Preparing for the last quarter, the Warriorettes' badminton and softball teams are practicing regularly.

Fran Harris, badminton teacher and Daisy Ishibashi, softball teacher, are helping the girls get into the swing of things. Their first meet was last Thursday against Camden, but results were unavailable at press time.

Although varsity baseball hasn't been doing too well, the frosh-soph team has been improving greatly in recent games. Saturday the teams took on Los Gatos.

Westmont's tennis squad, sometimes known as "The Big Red Machine," has been showing off their skills by winning 12 out of 14 League meets.

The swimmers are having hard times but hope to place in the finals. Track will try to improve their league record in their next meet which will be Friday afternoon.

DAKOTA CLUB

Entertainment and games are planned by the Dakota Club for their potluck dinner on Monday, May 8 at 6:30 p.m. in the Stone Church, Lincoln and Clark Way.

All Dakotans are welcome. For more information phone 297-9196.

TEMPERA PAINTING---Paula, David and Tony of Mrs. Diane Longinetti's class at Blackford School, dip their brushes in tempera paint. The kindergarteners will display their skill in the medium at the PruneYard on Saturday, May 6 as a climax to the Campbell Union School District's week-long festival of arts.

BABY CHICKS---It's spring, and the time for new life and renewal as these Blackford School students are learning firsthand from three baby chicks incubating in their classroom. CRAYON DRAWINGS---Children in Mrs. Diane Longinetti's kindergarten class at Blackford Elementary School sprawl on the floor, absorbed in drawings they are making for an art festival at the PruneYard, Tuesday, May 2 to Monday, May 8. Art in action demonstrations will be given by Blackford pupils and students of other Campbell Union District Schools in the PruneYard's Gran Plaza on Saturday, May 6. Demonstrations include macrame, loom weaving, jewelry, batik and tempera, and a continuous slide show will be projected throughout the week.

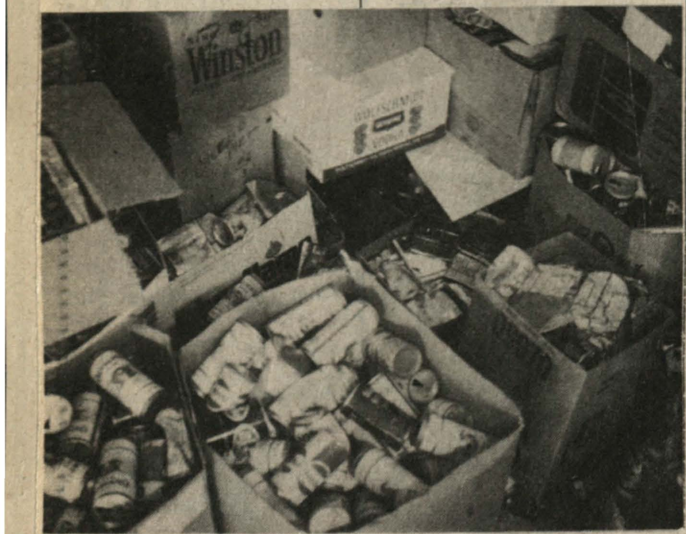
Seniors can do ecology bit, too!

by Barbara Price

GLASS BREAKING -- Irma Reese, director of the West Valley Progressive Senior Center, 41 W. Rincon, smashes a jug into a cardboard drum with all the drama of a christening ceremony. The center's director was instrumental in starting the recycling project three months ago.



WALL TO WALL CANS--A visitor to this backroom in the West Valley Progressive Senior Center, 41 W. Rincon, might think he was at a disposal yard instead. But the boxes of cans and bags of bottles are part of the senior's economic and ecological recycling venture.

Can smashing and bottle breaking is all in a day's work for a small group of Campbell's senior citizens.

Already busy with a craft store and a whirl of lessons and meetings, the West Valley Progressive Seniors dug into a a recycling project three months ago with all the gusto of a group of teen-agers.

Irma Reese, articulate and energetic director of the Seniors Center, 41 W. Rincon Ave., said a fellow worker with the Volunteer Bureau of Santa Clara County suggested the idea to help the group meet their monthly rent and other expenses.

Early in the year the Volunteer Bureau donated aluminum cans, for starters. Since then the West Valley Progressive Seniors have collected and prepared ton after ton of metal, aluminum and glass for recycling.

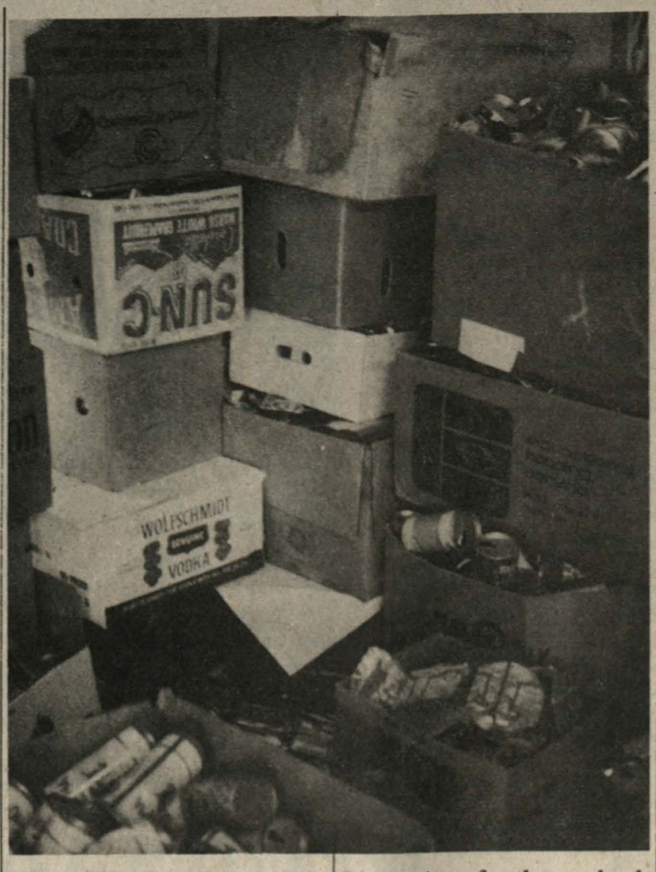
Smashing trash may seem like an unusual way to meet the rent, but the seniors have already earned several hundred dollars with their venture.

They are paid $20 a ton for glass and 10-cents a pound for bi-metals which can be distinguished from aluminum by a more rounded depression in the bottom of the container.

Green and white glass, aluminum and bi-metals are taken for recycling to a commercial depot in Hayward, while brown (Lucky, Coors, Mug Root Beer and Fischer's) bottles, which bring an extra dividend, are deposited at San Jose State College.

Money from recycling is welcome to the seniors, since they started the ecological endeavor to keep from sinking beneath a $4,000 cut in an Economic Social Opportunity (ESO) grant which supports them.

The ESO budget slash affected other senior groups in the county, but "we are the only service group and we want to stay on the helping side" says Mrs. Reese.



NEW LIFE---Empty beer and beverage cans wait in a corner of the Senior's Center, 41 W. Rincon Ave., for the overhaul and face lift they will get at a commercial recycling depot.

The more active core of the 150 member group helps other oldsters by providing transportation to classes and appointments, hosting adult education courses, supplying job referrals and helping seniors know what they are entitled to in the way of government support.

Some members man the senior's craft shop, which offers handmade items, while Irma Reese, Dorothy Elkerton, Beula Hoskins, Georgia Shephard and Valentine Gonzales are among those who also help by smashing and sorting the boxes and bags of trash lining a backroom of the center.

Cleaning is the first step in preparing bottles and cans for the trip to a recycling depot.

Green and clear bottles are next separated by color, cleared of the metal rings around their top and smashed forcefully into cardboard drums.

The seniors, adept at shattering bottles, pound the previously separated aluminum and bi-metal cans with a wooden stand.

The trash is stashed in half-ton fruit boxes with the help of Ralph Weymouth and Ralph Doetsch, who then load it onto a truck with Doetsch's fork lift.

Others involved in Campbell government and business who are helping the seniors help others include John Ruppel, Rusty Hammer, Arthur Kee and Henry Santoro.

Paul Hoff, known by the seniors as their "mystery helper", printed and distributed flyers of the oldsters venture, as credit for an Eagle Scout Award he is working towards.

The teenager also swelled the seniors' recycling income for March by collecting hundreds of cans and bottles.

The recycling project needs and deserves more cans and bottles as well as other forms of community support, because the seniors smash more than just glass.

These energetic oldsters are shattering the idea that elderly people should be shut off from the stream of society, and they are helping many their age find the way back to usefulness, self-fulfillment and personal and material security.

SJCMT plans an active summer

The San Jose Children's Musical Theater will hold registrations and auditions for its upcoming Summer '72 programs, Saturday, May 6 from 1 to 5 p.m. and Sunday, May 7 from 5 to 8 p.m. at St. Martins Church Hall on O'Connor Drive across from the hospital.

All roles are open in the summer's two major productions, "Annie Get Your Gun" to rehearse and be performed at St. Frances Cabrini Hall, and "Cinderella", to be staged at St. Martin's Hall.

"Annie" will rehearse on weekday afternoons and run August 12, 13, 19, 20, 26 and 27, while the classic folk tale will rehearse mornings and be performed July 22, 23, 29 and 30.

Both productions require large casts including singers, dancers, actors and stage crews.

In addition, "Annie Get Your Gun" will be accompanied by the SJCMT show orchestra, and young instrumentalists are encouraged to participate. Tryout song for both productions, which will be auditioned simultaneously, is "There's No Business Like Show Business" from "Annie".

There is an $8 registration fee per workshop.

Also planned this summer is a Puppet People production of "Snow White" using children age five to 12 with life-size marionettes.

Other SJCMT activities for the vacation season include puppet and marionette classes, training in stage lighting, and group violin, viola, cello and voice lessons.

Those interested in more information may bring their questions to the May 6 registration or phone 269-3738 or 265-1490.

Students participating in the work experience program of the Campbell Union High School District will pay tribute to their employers on Wednesday, May 10 during a luncheon held at the Franciscan Restaurant.

Each employer will be honored personally for his participation with a certificate presented by the student working for him.

The "Boss of the Year" award will be presented to the employer who the students think has shown the greatest amount of cooperation and understanding.

A student selected by the work experience coordinators, and a panel of employers will be named "Outstanding Student Employee of the Year", an award initiated this year.

Coordinators of the work experience program, which involves 150 students and the same number of employers, are H.L. Billings, Scott G. Peterson and George Fleming.

Mechanical drawing, office work, sales clerking, engineering and tires service are among the vocations highschoolers have experimented with, earning credits as they worked.

Participating students range from 40 at Leigh, Branham and Camden, to 35 at Westmont and Campbell, 32 at Prospect, 22 at Del Mar and 20 at Blackford.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

by Ellie Rumbaugh

District Nine Camp Fire Girls are hoping to do something about the critical fire season that is in evidence this year. At least they hope to prevent as many fires as possible.

Over 200 Blue Birds, Camp Fire and Discovery Club girls attended.

Last week, under the direction of Mrs. Kay Cook, they presented a talk and films on fire prevention at Fisher Jr. High School, Los Gatos.

Jim Coolidge of the Morgan Hill Department of Forestry instructed them in the do's and don'ts of working with fire and showed the films, "Frying Pan In The Fire" and "Outdoor Manners".

Some Camp Fire and Discovery Club groups left the next day for the annual trail days in Big Basin State Park.

The girls helped in clearing the old trails and building new ones for the enjoyment of hikers this coming season.

Some groups spent the weekend there for a campout.

Those groups attending and earning an award were: Mrs. Sandie Guenther, Camp Fire; Mrs. Kathy Larson, Camp Fire; Mrs. Ellie Rumbaugh, Discovery Club; and Mrs. Joanne Mohr, Discovery Club.

LIVELY TUNES---Bill Perkins directs the Campbell High orchestra as they swing into some of the lively tunes they will perform for the school's production of "Bye, Bye, Birdie", which will be performed Thursday, to Saturday, May 11 to 13 at 8 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

Teens dig into musical spoof

"BYE, BYE, BIRDIE"

Carrying the credentials of an 18-month triumph on Broadway, "Bye, Bye, Birdie" will arrive at Campbell High on May 11, 12 and 13 at 8 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

The show's concern with an Elvis Presley kind of songbird and a swarm of his frenzied fans put most New York critics on the defensive before they saw this musical, but on viewing it they all professed themselves pleasantly surprised that a musical on such a distressing subject turned out to be a genial satire that was exuberant, tuneful, and funny.

Mike Powers and Sindy McKay will be starred in the presentation here as a managerial pair of a sideburn-wearing minstrel named Conrad Birdie.

The show's commotion begins when, as a publicity stunt before their gold-mine goes into the Army, they arrange to have him visit a little Ohio town to plant a goodbye kiss on a selected-by-chance teenage admirer, and to have this broadcast on the Ed Sullivan Show.

Annette Chiaramonte will have another of the show's major roles as Mike Powers' tenaciously possessive mother who is losing her battle to delay his marriage to Sindy McKay, although she had managed to block it for eight years.

The desperate tricks of this maternal leech to make her sonny-boy feel guilty were considered comic highlights of "Bye, Bye, Birdie" during its New York run in 1960 and 1961 and during the two extensive road tours that took the show to most major cities on the American continent.

Pat Rodda will be seen as the dim-wit singer, Sherree Young the sweet little miss chosen for his last kiss, Steve DeOrnellas and Sue McAfee as her outraged parents, Pat Powers as her jealous beau.

"Bye, Bye, Birdie," with a book by Michael Stewart, has a song-bag of lively tunes by Charles Strouse and Lee Adams.

Among the hit numbers made familiar via radio, jukeboxes and the show's original-cast album are "The Telephone Hour," a spoof of the way juveniles monopolize Alexander Graham Bell's contraption with their gossip of who's going steady with whom.

Others include "We Love You, Conrad," the theme song of the swooning fans; "Hymn for a Sunday Evening," a mock anthem in praise of Ed Sullivan, the man who has done most to give Sunday its national meaning; "Spanish Rose," spoof on Latin-American ditties; two parodies of preposterous rock 'n' roll songs; and a song to the joys and wonder of womanhood called "How Lovely To Be a Woman," that is sung by a teen-ager in her bedroom as she pulls on bluejeans and a sloppy sweater.

John R. Hall is directing "Bye, Bye, Birdie," Marie Stinnett is choreographing the show's two famous ballets and other dance numbers. Steve DeOrnellas is designing the backgrounds for the action that swings from New York to Sweet Apple, Ohio, and Bill Perkins is serving as musical director.

DANCE---Valerie Chance, assistant choreographer, steps into one of the many dances she is rehearsing for the Campbell High drama, "Bye, Bye, Birdie."

Montalvo plans summer festival

The 20-member Berkeley Chamber Singers will launch Villa Montalvo's 18th annual summer music festival at 8:30 p.m. Friday, June 16 in the Carriage House Theater.

Other artists scheduled on consecutive Friday nights for the four part series are Stuart Canin, violinist and concertmaster for the San Francisco Symphony, Christopher Parkening, guitarist, and the Lenox String Quartet, chamber musicians.

Tickets for the summer festival are available at $25 per couple for each of the four programs, and tickets for individual concerts will be available after May 15.

Checks may be addressed to the Montalvo Music Committee, P. O. Box 158, Saratoga, CA 95070.

PEO SISTERHOOD

Fifty-year members of the PEO Sisterhood will be special guests on Wednesday, May 17 when chapters NF and LP host the meeting of the Reciprocity Bureau of Santa Clara District at Villa Felice, 15350 Winchester Road, Los Gatos.

Among those attending the 11 a.m. business meeting and noon luncheon is Mrs. William Puterbaugh, 916 Old Orchard Road, Campbell.

LOUD NOISE

The boom which accompanied the explosion of the Island of Krakatoa in 1883, was heard over one-thirteenth of the earth's surface.

Teens live in Latin America

Youth for Understanding, a non-profit international teen-age exchange program, is offering high school students three new cultural programs this summer, in addition to the regular European arrangements.

The innovative South American Language Culture Program is tailored for high school juniors now studying Spanish. Teen participants will live with a family in a large Latin-American city, while learning classes in the language and culture of the country chosen.

Language students with artistic flair have the opportunity to develop their craft at the Brazilian Society of Fine Arts, sponsored by the Brazilian Ministry of Education and Culture.

The exchange's Mexican program offers high schoolers the chance to live with a Mexican family for two months, at a cost of $500. The other YFU summer month programs require $800, though scholarships are available for needy students.

For further information, teens may contact their high schools or phone 252-7789. American families are also being sought to host foreign students for six months to a year.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

Last month, I reported on SCDA player Ray Ringus shooting a 170-out. This is the highest out combination possible. He hit two triple 20's and then hit the center bull for his out.

This would not have been possible in Oregon as they do not accept the center bull as a double or an out. Their highest combination is a 160 (two triple 20's and the double 20).

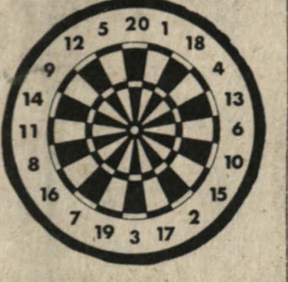
What about other combinations? Most good dart shooters start thinking of their out when they get around 150. There is at least one combination of three darts that will win the game for every score below 158.

Tom Lawrence, president of the NCDA, said some time ago, that unless you could hit the triple most of the time you should stick to your regular scoring pattern until you could hit your double out. For a long time I agreed with this. I still think it is a good idea for new darters. After he has been shooting for a while, a darter starts hitting a pattern whereby he can keep his three darts together in an area covered by a silver dollar. Really good dart shooters can put them together in smaller areas.

Before we get into the combinations we should look at the doubles. The majority of darters set themselves up to shoot at the double 16. There is a good reason for this. If your dart should go a little bit to the right it would be a single 16 which leaves you the double 8.

If the dart rides high it can hit either the double 8 or the single 8. Both still leave a double for the next dart.

The double 8 breaks down to the double 4, which in turn becomes a double 2 if the single 4 is hit. The double duce then becomes the double one and that is as low as you can go.



Many darters hate this number. It is a mental block as well as a physical block. The fact that you can go bust on the first dart and not use your other two darts during your turn is what does it.

Hitting the single 8 leaves you with 24 or the double 12. Your next shot is the double 6. A single here leaves you the double 3. Odd numbered doubles should be avoided if possible. A double 3 requires some thinking and a little player strategy.

If your opponent is breathing down your neck, shooting at or about to shoot for his double, you have to go for it. But if you have a good lead, it is best to play it safe. This may be a good idea even if the pressure is on. Playing safe is shooting for the single 2, leaving you with the double duce.

Had you stayed with the double 3 and missed with the first two darts (off the board) but hit the single 3 with the last dart, you are now stuck with three for a score. The only way you can go out is with two darts (1, double 1).

Many darters will hit the single 1 with the first dart and then throw the other two off the board so that on the next turn they are shooting for a double.

Next week I will continue the explanation of combinations and outs.

TENNIS MATCH — Dennis Swan and Joe Schafer, members of Camden's varsity tennis team, take a high lob at the ball during a recent match against Campbell.

Cougars Corner

by Alan Carmain

TENNIS TEAM PREVAILES

Camden's varsity tennis team once again prevailed as they started last week's play with a victory in a match against Campbell, Tuesday, April 24.

The Cougars pulled out the close win with the varsity doubles giving the team a boost which resulted in the final score of 4-3.

Victorious court men were: Jeff Sheets, number two man, 6-3, 6-4; Mike Weyers, number three man, 6-2, 6-2. Both the doubles teams won their matches.

Joe Schafer teamed up with Dennis Swan for a 6-2, 6-2, win in the first varsity doubles match.

Pulling the team out of their handicap were Peter Bolino and Larry Kondo, splitting sets and finally coming out with a hard earned 1-6, 6-3, 7-5 victory.

DOMINATING FORCE FADES AWAY

The dominating force earlier displayed faded away as the Cougars met Del Mar in a re-match game last Wednesday, April 27.

The Cougars dropped this match to the victorious Dons with a final match score of 0-7.

All the playing during the week or the hot sun affected the Cougars as they lost all the varsity matches in a 0-7 sweep for the Cats victory on Thursday, April 28 when they took on Los Gatos.

MAYOR GUEST SPEAKER

Mayor Mineta, from San Jose, will be the guest speaker at the annual CSF banquet held this year on May 9 next Tuesday at 6:30 or 7 p.m. at the Royal Fork.

Ceremonies will include the naming of Seal Bearers and other honored members.

The cost for the evening will be $2.

SKILL AND ATTITUDE COUNT

Lettergirl preliminaries were held at Camden last Thursday, April 27.

The girls were chosen on their skill, attitude, neatness and form while performing their cheer and one-hand clap routine.

These 15 girls who went on to the finals Monday, May 1, were elected by ten faculty members.

In the finals these girls were elected by the student council, old letter girls and student council representatives.

The girls who went to the finals were: Carol Ayers, Debbie Bringuel, Patti Cunningham, Sandy Bringuel, Kathy O'Neill, Janis Parker, Lisa Perry, Diana Puz, Debi Robson, Monica Sheridon and Val Underwood.

The results of this final election were not known at the time of this writing. See next issue for the results.

SOIL 'N CLIMATE

Within the boundaries of California there occur almost every type of rock, structure, physiography and climate known to exist on earth.

GOLFERS LINEUP---The West Valley College golfers lost last week but only after they had secured the Camino Norte Conference championship for 1972. The Vikings lost to Santa Rosa but that setback was sandwiched between wins over Contra Costa and DeAnza. The Vikings are, left to right, Randy Johnson, Todd Styron, Mark Cunningham, Rick Scott, Jeff Linane, John Zetterquist, Mike Stewart, John Panetta and coach Dick Schwendinger.

West Valley Sports

by Dick Sparrer

GOLFERS SNARE TITLE

A loss marred the week for the West Valley College golf team but WVC had already cinched the Camino Norte Conference championship.

The Vikes had beaten Contra Costa 34-20 a week earlier. Santa Rosa got in the way and upset the Vikes 35-19. WVC got back on the winning trail two days later, with a 34-20 win over rival DeAnza.

John Zetterquist (Del Mar) fired a fine 73 to take medalist honors against DAC.

Rick Scott (Buchser) led the win over CCC while Randy Johnson (Branham) was tops in the loss to SR.

Supporting in the efforts were Mike Stewart (Camden), Todd Styron (Camden), Mark Cunningham (Campbell), and Jeff Linane (Branham).

RELAY WIN LIFTS VIKES TO FIFTH

WVC tracksters having nailed down the CNC dual meet title, they will go after yet another CNC crown this week, competing in the conference meet in Marin.

The Vikes marched on in their successful season last week with a tri-meet win and a fifth place effort at the Northern California Relays in Fresno last weekend.

Just a tenth of a second off the meet record, the WVC two-mile relay team of Mike Haniger (Mitty), Brad Syth, Mike Schaecher (Branham), and Randy Carlson (Blackford) raced to a first place at 7:45.7 in the teeth of a heavy wind.

The time broke the old school record by more than nine seconds.

Steve Gibson (Saratoga) turned in a strong effort in the high hurdles as he placed second at 14.8 while the sprint medley team of Robbie Anderson (Campbell), Mike Flack (Westmont), Brooks Gregory (Blackford), and Bert Hume (Campbell) romped to a third at 3:40.1.

The Vikes won a tri-meet from Stanford JV's and Foothill a few days earlier 63-43-58, respectively.

Individual winners included Gregory in the 100 and 220, Flack in the 440, Carlson in the 880, Schaecher in the mile, Gibson in the highs and Dave McWhinney (Branham) in the pole vault.

LOSSES KILL TITLE HOPES

The Viking baseball team last week had three losses which about eliminated them from the 1972 CNC race.

West Valley won six in a row when they hit the road to meet Canada Tuesday. They came home with their streak broken by the long ball as the Colts pounded out a 4-0 win.

A 13-7 loss to Santa Rosa and a 3-1 setback at the hands of Marin, both in the CNC's second division, really hurt.

This week they face DeAnza Tuesday and Skyline Thursday at Central Park. Both start at 3 p.m.

NETMEN IN CNC TOURNEY

After competing in the Ojai tournament in Southern California last week, the college tennis team will get back to local action this week as they host Santa Clara University and hit the road for DeAnza and the CNC tournament Thursday.
